To whom it may concern

Dear Sir or Madam,

As an IBM Senior project manager, I have cooperated with IBA Group since March, 1998. In the past years, we implemented a number of large-scale projects. Examples of projects implemented for IBM are:

A suite of applications that provide electronic document management for a major business unit at IBM. The features include HR management, finance management, business planning, and event management. The project was implemented on IBM Notes with web interface for some of its components, and using advanced technologies and development tools, such as Xpages, IBM Watson & Analytics and other high secure application systems.

Projects for the IBM Human Resource Management division include a complicated document management system that was tightly integrated with other corporate applications. One of the projects was selected a finalist of the European IT & Software Excellence Awards in 2014.

A technology-centric project involved analysis of logs for data storage systems, including NodeJS, Elasticsearch, and Angular technologies.

Examples of projects implemented for other customers are:

A large pilot project for a company that serves large-scale German banks, involved development of a web interfaces for banking applications. The development environment was XPages.

A project for a technology company that designs and manufactures connectivity and sensor products, covered a global warehouse accounting system that supports relationships with the dealers through the internet. The application was developed using traditional Domino tools. A part of the project involved integration with relational databases of the customer (IBM DB2).

In aggregate, IBA Group provided the following services in the above projects.

- Design, development, and deployment of Notes/Domino applications and information systems
- Support and enhancement of existing systems
- Web enablement of Notes applications
- Audit and consulting
- Web development using modern JavaScript frameworks (NodeJS, Angular, and other).

IBA Group demonstrated high professionalism and the ability to perform under challenging conditions. Their good communication skills, resourcefulness, and excellent teamwork also contributed to the success of our projects. I would like to recommend IBA Group as a reliable and effective partner.

Sincerely,

Oliver Steiner
